GAS TAX MONEY WILL BE USED FOR STREET IMPROVEMENT

Spafford and Harden to be Curbed and Guttered,
Board Plans

RETAIN MEMBERSHIP IN MUNICIPAL LEAGUE

Curbs and gutters will be built on Spafford street, according to a resolution passed Tuesday night at the February meeting of the village board. The resolution was directed to the Highway Division of the State Department of Public Works and Buildings in answer to the ruling that municipalities must specify the work to be done with their percentage of the state gasoline tax funds. Under the law the state tax of three cents is divided one cent to the state, one to the county and one to township and municipality, prorated according to population. Antioch's share for the current year is estimated at $1,600.

Member of Illinois League. Antioch will retain membership in the Illinois Municipal League this year, the trustees voted. The cost of membership is $20, and this amount is saved many times through the advice and counsel given to members by the League's expert in municipal government, Antioch officials declare. The League was instrumental, it is said, in causing the enactment of the law which gives to municipalities a share of the state gasoline tax money. Officials of the Illinois League have announced a series of meetings throughout the state and to which all municipal officials are invited. The first meeting will be held in Elgin on February 16.

Exhibits Newspaper Over 160 Years Old

B. A. Ray, Antioch service station owner, exhibited to friends here this week two rare specimens of early American newspapers, undoubtedly the oldest newspaper copies ever seen in this locality outside a museum.

The oldest of the newspapers in Mr. Ray's possession is a copy of the Maryland Journal and Baltimore Advertiser dated August 20, 1773, which was the first copy of the publication. W. Goddard, the publisher, apologized for being late with the paper, owing, as he stated, to the difficulty he had encountered in assembling materials. The paper ante-dates the American Revolutionary war and was published three years before the Declaration of Independence.

Tells of Washington's Death. The other old specimen is a copy of the Ulster County Gazette published at Kingston, N. Y., and dated January 4, 1800. The paper then was in its second year. Samuel Freer & Son were the publishers. This copy is particularly valuable because it carries on two full pages the news of the death of George Washington, the story appearing in print 21 days after the demise of the first president. John Adams, then president, was a contributor to the edition, which carried notices of more than a dozen sheriff's sales, and an announcement of the convening of congress on December 10th.

Both specimens of these rare newspapers in Mr. Ray's possession are in almost perfect state of preservation notwithstanding their great age.

OBJECTS TO RUBBISH ON TOWNSHIP ROADS

Unsanitary heaps of rubbish along state and township highways have become all too common a sight, according to H. S. Roberts, proprietor of the Merry Glen hotel at Lake Maria. Roberts complains that the practice of dumping rubbish along the highways has become a nuisance that should be stopped, and as there is a law against the practice, the matter will be brought to the attention of the proper authorities, he said.

Antioch Milk Dealers To Get Federal Licenses

The Antioch Dairy Plant and Scott's Dairy will receive federal milk dealers' licenses within the next two days, according to Clyde McKelvie, manager of the Antioch plant, and Walter S. Scott, who said that they had received official notice from Chicago this morning.

All licensed dealers, under the AAA's new plan, are pledged to pay the farmers $1.75 for base milk, and $1.25 for milk used for cream purposes. The price of surplus butterfat milk will be determined by the market price of butter. The blended price will now be about $1.62 per hundred, approximately the same as the price set by the arbiters after the recent milk strike.

Producers' Price Fixed. The federal agriculture department, at first refusing to support a price higher than $1.70 per hundred for base milk, although the arbiters set $1.85, determined to fix the price paid to the producer. Henceforth, any fluctuation in the price of milk to the consumer will be determined by the current economic conditions, and the demand.

Frank G. Baker, new administrator for the Chicago milk marketing area under the AAA, announced that the area for licensed dealers includes the territory within thirty-five miles of the city limits, which in this direction, reaches into southern Wisconsin. It is expected that the new price will become effective from February 1.

Dering Expedition Sails For Mexico

Philip Simpson Accompanies
Crew as Assistant Manager

The J. K. Dering Movie Expedition, after a number of delays due to rough waters, sailed from New York City in The Uvira, the black 176-foot sailing craft, Tuesday, for Mexico and Central America. The Uvira is the former Intrepid.

Philip Simpson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Simpson of Paschendale Farms, is accompanying the expedition in the capacity of assistant manager. A picture featured in the New York Journal of the Uvira, about to set sail, included a photograph of Simpson among a group of "sailors." The expedition may stop off at Miami, Florida, for a few days, enroute to Los Mochis, Mexico, where J. K. Dering owns a vast estate.

Jackson Dering is the son of the late J. K. Dering, former owner of the Cedar Crest Estate near Lake Villa. With about eight society friends, including his wife, and a crew of about thirty, he is setting out on a pleasure trip to include Caribbean sea fishing, searching for anthropological specimens, and "shots" at the interesting scenes.

Annual Meeting of Entire Association to Be
March 13

John Wirtz, Mundelein farmer, was reelected president of the Lake County Pure Milk Association Friday at the annual election of officers held at Dietz stables.

This is the second term for Wirtz, who reluctantly agreed to accept the presidency for another year, claiming that his duties as cashier of the Mundelein State bank occupy all his time. However, his acquaintance with the farm problems and his efficiency during the past year made him the logical person for the position.

Joseph Adams Waukegan, was elected vice president; Charles Wray of Grayslake, was reelected secretary, and Frank Faulkner, Russell, was reelected treasurer. The meeting was attended by nearly 500 members.

Announce Annual Meeting. The ninth annual meeting of the entire Pure Milk Association will be held at the Auditorium Theatre, Michigan Avenue, at Congress street, Chicago, Tuesday, March 13, according to an announcement made by the Central Office in Chicago. An inter-local attendance contest is being arranged.

Announcements of the meeting were signed by W. J. Christensen, president, and George P. Reisenhaus, Secretary.

A bulletin issued by the Corporation reveals that in 1933 more people than ever before have made Deep Lake their year around home, and for this reason the Corporation is launching the movement to make the lake a year around place of residence with plenty of activity at all times.

Plan Improvements. A ladies' auxiliary to the Corporation is talked of, officials stated. There is to be a road fund created, and an effort will be made to bring gas to the lake. Skating tournaments and other winter sporting events are in prospect, according to the secretary's bulletin.

News Is Good Paper Evanston Reader Says

"I enjoy reading the Antioch News very much," writes Mr. R. M. Dukas, 1027 Hull street, Evanston, Ill., in remitting for another year's subscription. "I think you have a very good country town newspaper, which I hope is appreciated by the residents of the neighborhood as much as it is by me."

The News appreciates Mr. Dukas' comment regarding the local paper. Many such letters as his are received by the News.

HORNER AND KELLY HAVE LIQUOR TRAFFIC WELL UNDER CONTROL

Governor Admits Law Is Faulty, but Mayor Is Satisfied

Springfield, Feb. 8.—After giving Chicago its own home rule liquor commission, Governor Horner in another great burst of generosity also gave Chicago the state commission which will control, politically and otherwise, all saloons outside of Chicago.

First, the governor named Arthur S. "Babe" Smith, youthful Bloomington hiker, as chairman of the state commission. Smith is a Democrat. Then he added Col. A. A. Sprague, Democrat, and Gen. Milton J. Foreman, Republican, both from Chicago as the other two members, and appointed former Congressman James McAndrews of Chicago to the powerful job as secretary of the commission.

The Chicago commission will now consist of Gen. Foreman, Secretary of State Edward Hughes and a Democrat to be elected by the Chicago city council. All will be from Chicago, of course.

The governor admits the law is inadequate and unsatisfactory and that the second special session will be kept open to amend it. Only Mayor Kelly is satisfied. He got everything—complete control of the 10,000 Chicago saloons and complete control, with the exception of one of three commissioners, of all the saloons statewide.

Nearly $500,000 was appropriated for "junketing" and other expenses of the commission, including $102,000 for state liquor stamps.

The third special legislative session will be convened either Feb. 12 or 20, depending upon the program. Chicago measures will predominate, but the cities and villages act may be thrown open to amendment in an effort to amend it.

JAMES HORAN IS APPOINTED LOCAL ACTING POSTMASTER

Postmasters to Be Under Civil Service in the Future

The new acting postmaster of Antioch, James Horan, began his new duties Monday morning, following receipt of a letter from Washington Saturday authorizing his appointment.

Horan was appointed from among several who were seeking the job. He is well known in Democratic political circles in this vicinity and has been considered for several months as a possible successor to Miss Lottie Jones, Republican, who held the position for over twelve years. Before assuming the duties of postmaster, Miss Jones was employed as a clerk in the office, which qualified her to take complete charge.

Other employees in the post office are Roy Kufalik, Daisy Richards, and Oliver Hughes. Lester Osmond and Arthur Trieger are mail carriers.

To Be Under Civil Service. In line with the Roosevelt administration's proposal to place all postmasters under civil service, a competitive examination for postmasters was announced recently by the United States Civil Service Commission at the request of the Postmaster General.

This examination is to be held under the President's order of July 12, 1933, and not under the civil service rules and acts. Competitors, instead of being required to report for examination at any place, will be rated upon their education and training, business experience, and fitness.

Until such time as Congress enacts definite legislation for the appointment of permanent postmasters, many post offices all over the United States are in charge of acting postmasters.

Grade School Is Granted Additional Hours For Project

Supplement of 500 Hours
Provides for Varnishing
Woodwork

Five hundred additional hours for completing work included in the grade school CWA project were granted this week, according to an announcement received by the school board Tuesday from Lake County CWA headquarters.

This supplement will provide for varnishing the woodwork in both buildings including all the woodwork on the large hall and staircases in the old building, which have not been refinished for about fifteen years.

Most of the actual work on the classrooms will be done on Saturdays and after school, according to Ralph E. Claiborne, principal, thus allowing classes to continue without interruption.

Theatre Owner Is News' First Customer in Its New Location

The Antioch News' first customer in its new location at 828 Main street was Fred E. Swanson, owner and manager of the Antioch Theatre.

Swanson likes to be first in everything worth doing, which probably accounts for the fact that he first tries the home town for all his requirements, and also that he presents first showings of the better class features at his theatre.

GETS FINE RESULTS FROM AD IN NEWS

"I got very good results from the ad run in the Antioch News on January 18, selling out in three days," writes O. F. Meredith from Shelby, Michigan. Mr. Meredith referred to a car load of fine Michigan apples which he had shipped to Trevor, Wis. He says he will be back to Trevor with another car of apples in March.

MONEY AND MEN

by Claudius E. Wade

Wherever you encounter people today, you hear that old familiar song, "Money." It is sung by the old as well as the young, and the tune is the same for the crook as it is for the honest and upright. I appreciate that in our present economic system, money occupies a very important position, but surely it is not so important that we have to talk about it all day and dream about it all night. Some would be happy to have a little, while others are sad because they don't have all of it. Man will sacrifice all to accumulate it and then, after getting it, kill himself because he doesn't know what to do with it.

Had it ever occurred to you that we use the dollar to measure men today instead of good old-fashioned character? Some one said that you could buy anything with money except happiness and a passport to heaven, and it seems that many disregard these exceptions. If we would magnify the characterological virtues and publicize them as we do those people who amass great amounts of money, character would emerge from among the antiques and take its proper place in the lives of men.

Talking about money, would it seem to you that men like Rockefeller and Ford have such superior ability that they can earn on a strictly honorable basis more than a billion dollars? If $500 had been placed in a bank every day to the credit of Adam from the first day he was in the garden of Eden 6000 years ago, his account would not equal either Mr. Rockefeller's or Mr. Ford's.

However, let us not make a mistake and lay the fault at money's door when it properly belongs at man's door. Money of itself is harmless. It is only a medium through which the selfish and mean or the altruistic and noble attributes of man express themselves in relation to his fellowmen. Let us hope that soon the methods of acquiring money are reduced to a right basis rather than a legal precedent.

COOPERATIVES ONLY SOUND FOUNDATION

In his speech to the Congress, President Roosevelt repeated a belief that is a basic element in his recovery program when he said, "I continue in my conviction that industrial progress and prosperity can only be attained by bringing the purchasing power of that portion of our population which in one form or another is dependent upon agriculture up to a level which will restore a proper balance between every section of the country and every form of work."

Whether or not time proves that theory to be entirely correct, it is pleasant to record that agriculture is gradually moving upward toward the level the President speaks of. Some of the improvement is due to government legislative effort. But most of the improvement must be laid to the work done by the farmers themselves, through their cooperative organizations.

These organizations have been tireless in working to educate both the general public and their members in the fundamentals of farm problems. They have been the government's best ally in promoting acreage reduction and in seeking to balance supply with demand. They have done much in fighting the farmer's battles with the middleman, and in obtaining a better economic break for him.

Agriculture is definitely on the mend and the farm cooperatives offer the only permanent foundation for sound future progress.

The end of 1933 and the beginning of 1934 witnessed an improvement in general business. The decline in production, which followed the July peak and wiped out the bulk of spring and summer gains, was reversed. Contrary seasonal improvement occurred in a number of lines as it did the first half of last year. There seems to be a more hopeful outlook on the part of the leaders of a number of basic industries. The hysterical excitement which followed the creation of the NRA and other phases of the recovery program is being replaced by a more stable and realistic viewpoint. Of importance to business generally is the allaying of the fear that the government would embark on inflation by fiat money—it is believed that the President's move to stabilize silver, and the bill to devalue the dollar, make the issuance of printing-press money highly improbable. It is doubtful if the current Congress will be so important to business as most sessions are, inasmuch as it is largely a rubber-stamp body, which follows the wishes of the President from A to Z. Mr. Roosevelt's plans, in general, are well known, and to that extent there is less uncertainty over legislative activity than there would otherwise be.

DEATH ON THE RADIATOR

About one out of every ten of the automobiles that use the public streets and highways, should wear as an emblem a large, staring death's head.

It wouldn't be a pretty sight. But it would be an accurate symbol. Ten per cent of motorists are responsible for our gigantic death and injury toll. Not all of them, of course, have an accident every year. But they all take chances. They are irresponsible or incompetent or congenitally careless. They drive cars with defective brakes and steering mechanisms and poor lights. They cut in and out of traffic, missing oncoming cars by an eyelash and feeling a thrill of achievement while doing it. They pass on hills and curves, and regard even the most basic and sensible traffic laws as being inimical obstacles which should be avoided whenever possible. They drive at high speed when road and traffic conditions make it exceedingly dangerous.

And—every year—they leave behind them 30,000 corpses and hundreds of thousands of injured persons whose sole offense was that they happened to be present when the reckless driver was taking one of the chances he didn't get away with.

Yes, there should be the emblem of death on a long line of automobiles which otherwise look no different than any other cars of their kind. This suggestion may make some of the reckless drivers think twice before running a risk the next time.

CONSTRUCTION PROBLEM

GAINS GREATER ATTENTION

The Federal government has started a nation-wide farm housing survey to ascertain the potential demand for improved home facilities, the cost of providing them, the development of standard specifications adapted to the needs of various areas, and practical plans for financing improvements and new building.

It is generally known that there is a tremendous unfulfilled demand for new housing, in city as well as rural areas, due to the lack of building for five or six years, and to the high rate of depreciation of existing structures.

One of the great stumbling blocks to building now is that banks are unable to loan funds because of inelastic laws, and the interest rates charged by other agencies are often so high as to discourage the prospective builder. Both private and public agencies are now working on the financing problem to develop some plan whereby money can be made available for construction at reasonable interest rates, and still earn a fair profit. There is also hope that there will be sufficient change in the banking situation to permit a little more leeway in making building loans on the basis of an applicant's general character and reputation, instead of on his liquid assets only.

If a major building wave can be started, on the farms and in cities, one of the biggest steps toward recovery and stability will have been taken.

In the meantime, those who can build or repair now will be benefiting themselves and the nation by starting construction dollars rolling, for let us hope that never again can we buy or build as cheaply as today.

G. O. P. NEWS SERVICE

The Illinois News Bureau, an adjunct of the Republican State organization, is a thorn in the side of the Democratic state administration. It performs, however, a service to the public as well as to the party. It attempts to do what the Democratic publicity service in Washington, under Charles Michelson, did for the party—and the people too—under the Hoover administration. It presented the issues from the Democratic side, through the years.

Charles Porter, the Michelson of Illinois, is doing a good job. His barbed criticisms, backed up by news facts, give a viewpoint that is interesting. The administration's side is represented by publicity men, employed at the taxpayers' expense, who send out news for all the major departments of the state.

Ours is a two party government. It will succeed best when the two sides of the picture are before the people. The more facts the people have the better equipped are they to render judgment on election day. Anyway, the Republicans are paying the bills for their press service.—William H. Stuart in the Chicago Evening American.

THE PICTURE

The memory of the Great Emancipator was a kind of religion to Uncle Don and he found Billy an eager and appreciative listener whenever he chose to talk on his favorite subject.

"Aba walked twelve miles once to return ten cents to a woman customer of the store in Old Salem when he found he had given her the wrong change," related Uncle Don.

"Why didn't he just call her on the telephone and tell her he'd give it to her next time she came in?" asked Billy.

"There were no telephones then," replied Uncle Don. "We have many things now our grandfathers didn't have and one of the greatest of these is the telephone, especially to the farmer. It keeps us in touch with our neighbors, with the stores in town, with the fire department, the doctor and the veterinarian. Those of Lincoln's day had to do without it, but we have it for only a few cents a day and we are mighty lucky."

Child Star of "Wizard of Oz" Show Scores Major Triumph

Nancy Kelly, 12-year-old star of the "Wizard of Oz" show, poses with the nine Oz piglets who won fame nearly forty years before the big bad wolf put porkers in the news.

SIX months ago, a curly haired little girl with big brown eyes climbed up on a big box and spoke into a microphone for the first time. It was 12-year-old Nancy Kelly's first audition.

Today Nancy Kelly, star of the "Wizard of Oz" show, is an established star. The "who's who" of the other waves. Her role of Dorothy is the biggest child part in radio. When the script for the Oz dramas dropped Dorothy, more than fifteen thousand children wrote in demanding her immediate return. The sponsors had to hastily scrap the story of the "Wizard of Oz," America's most famous juvenile classic, to reinstate Dorothy.

Thousands of letters from parents, teachers and women's club officials have poured in applauding Nancy's performance in "the most beautiful performance on the air." It is the youngsters who send to new ideas for Oz adventures have their way the "Wizard of Oz" show you hear over the NBC-WEAF network every Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 5:45 p.m. E.S.T. will continue in perpetuity. So little Nancy, who is still America's most photographed child model, is radio's newest big time star.

A Profitable Investment

EVENTS of the last few years have caused many people to ponder the insecurity and uncertainty of the average types of financial investments. This may lead to a more spiritual concept of substance, because a careful consideration discloses the fact that materiality in any form is unsubstantial, insecure, and uncertain; whereas the things of God are substantial, secure, and permanent. While legitimate investments, helpful to humanity, are quite proper when correctly and wisely made, nevertheless financial interests should at all times be secondary in consideration, and spiritual understanding of "the deep things of God" primary.

To invest means, among other things, to confer, to endow, to vest (in). One of the definitions of "vest" is, "To put in possession so as to give an immediate fixed right of present or future enjoyment." How descriptive is this definition of the result which one obtains who turns to God, Spirit, for guidance, protection, supply, and peace! Reliance upon God bears immediate fruitings, for it indeed vests the reliant one with "an immediate fixed right" to enjoy the blessings from God's power. This reliance is not too transient, for it is a permanent or realization at this present and in all time. Centuries ago Christ Jesus used a parable to illustrate the value of the kingdom of heaven. He told of a man who found a "pearl of great price." Note that while it was a pearl of great value, a "great price" was required to purchase it. So highly did the man value this pearl, and so much did he desire to possess it, that he "sold all that he had, and bought it." At another time Jesus said, "Seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you." Surely there could be no more profitable investment than the kingdom of God and His righteousness; and no greater profit could be obtained from an investment, for the promise is that not part of, but "all these things shall be added unto you."

By his words and works Christ Jesus, the Way-shower for mankind, revealed that it is always practical to seek first and always to do the will of the Father. His life demonstrated that such simple trust in God is the only really profitable investment and is entirely practical in human experience. No one, before or after Jesus' time, has ever shown forth as did he, the wealth and profit which such an investment produces. His bers of the Girls' Dramatic Club—taking part were Rose Zervas, Anita Moolle, Josephine Larwin and Edna Neuman.

A group from the Bristol P. T. A. gave a discussion on the topic, "The Teacher in Rural Education."

The night school for agriculture is held each Monday night at eight o'clock in the high school building. Twenty-five have enrolled and all others interested are welcome.

Test Selected Eggs in Many Ways

Methods of determining quality are constantly adding to the many troubles of the poultry raiser. If you are a producer for the fancy markets it is no longer enough that your eggs be fresh, that they be of uniform size, spotlessly clean or even that the yolks be of the same shade. Hotel chefs and discriminating housewives have Watery, Running Whites—Inferior added still another and by far a most difficult test designed particularly to show up inferior quality.

Poached eggs are a breakfast or a luncheon favorite with millions of city customers. The next time you poach eggs look at the water in which your eggs have been cooking. If it is full of shreds of white floating around, your resulting product will have lost much of its valuable egg white. The yolk will not be covered with cooked white and a watery taste will be most noticeable. You will be fortunate if the eggs do not break in removing them from the water.

By using the right quality of feed with healthy birds, poultrymen can overcome this objection. At the Purina

Firm, Thick Whites—Superior

Experimental Laboratories, exhaustive tests were made on the eggs produced by different experimental flocks.

Different feeds it was found influenced directly the firmness and poaching qualities of eggs. From these tests, it was possible to develop a laying mash that makes firm, thick whites—the kind that poach best.

The way to prove, of course, is to do. Poaching in the old fashioned way will demonstrate immediately the superior qualities of scientifically produced eggs. It is a showmanship test that many producers are now using to demonstrate to egg buyers, to housewives, and to hotel chefs why their selected eggs are entitled to a premium price.

YOUR CHILD AND THE SCHOOL

By Dr. ALLEN G. IRELAND
Director, Physical and Health Education
New Jersey State Department of Public Instruction

Winter Sports

How well we all remember the winter days of our childhood, the snowball fights, the ice skating, the coasting, the long hikes through snowy country and the sleigh riding!

Winter sports time is again with us and every child has a right to those experiences which he will never forget no matter how long he lives.

The cold air of winter is stimulating and exhilarating and tends to increase activity. This in turn utilizes energy. The cold also uses body heat. Since both heat and energy come from food you may expect an increased appetite in the child in winter time and a craving for heavier, energy-producing foods.

Let children eat all they need but be sure the emphasis in the diet is upon growth promoting and protective foods such as milk, fruits and vegetables. Let the child have plenty of milk and milk dishes, together with cereals and occasional servings of meat in the form of stews, etc.

Winter time is sports time. Plenty of energy is required and should be provided.

Ventilation and health will be the subject of Dr. Ireland's next article.

HOLD ON TO YOUTH

Vitamins—the Protectors of Your Beauty

By Marie H. Callahan, Editor
Modern Beauty Shop Magazine

You've heard a lot about vitamins and health, but probably not so much about vitamins and beauty. However, it is true that vitamins are essential to natural healthy beauty. Starting at the head of the alphabet with Vitamin A we find that this vitamin is a builder of general health, promoting proper physical development and building resistance against infections—particularly against infections of the eyes (beauty seekers take note). A few of the richest sources of this element are fresh milk, cream, cheese, butter, carrots, lettuce, spinach and tomatoes.

Next comes Vitamin B, found in whole grain cereals, peas, milk, egg yolk, and in most fruits and vegetables. This vitamin is the one that is recommended for those of you who are troubled with loss of appetite, poor digestion or nerve disorders that make you look and feel ragged around the edges. Perhaps you don't think much about whether or not you are getting Vitamin C, but you'd miss it if you didn't have it, for it is this vitamin contained in oranges, lemons, grapefruit, tomatoes and raw leafy vegetables that protects you from scurvy.

Vitamin D has been getting the lion's share of attention lately and it is very important for, among other things, it is necessary for the formation and maintenance of beautiful teeth. Sunshine, cod liver oil, milk butter, cream, egg yolks—these are a few of the foods that will supply you with Vitamin D.

And last—Vitamin G. It has been discovered in recent experiments that an abundance of this vitamin will do much toward producing in you that "buoyant health" that means the most lasting beauty. One of the richest sources of this vitamin is milk. Spinach, eggs, salmon and liver also supply it.

Vitamins are such comparatively new and mysterious things that they have attracted attention to themselves to the exclusion of some other valuable food elements—such as minerals. Two of the most important of these are calcium and phosphorus. Calcium is a mineral most vital to our beauty as it is essential for beautiful teeth and for "preserving the characteristics of youth." But unfortunately this mineral is one of those most frequently lacking in the American diet. The easiest way to get your full supply of it is through taking a quart of milk every day either as a beverage or used in cooking. This quantity of milk will also give you about three-fourths of your daily phosphorus requirement; the rest can be secured through such foods as eggs, oatmeal or prunes.

No doubt you have noticed that the best sources of almost all these vitamins and minerals are milk, fruits and vegetables. These three foods have been termed by one famous nutritionist—Dr. E. V. McCollum of Johns Hopkins University—as the "protective foods" because an abundance of them taken daily protect health. And obviously anything that protects health automatically protects beauty as well. So let me recommend this easy beauty treatment as the foundation upon which to build a body beautiful in every way—include in your diet each day at least a pint of milk, a quart if possible, two different kinds of fresh fruits and two different kinds of vegetables, one of the green leafy variety.

Dissolving Indebtedness

THE subject of debt looms large on the mental horizon of today. Quite apart from the manifold questions bound up with the consideration of war debts, those sad legacies of strife which so greatly concern the nations at this time, there remains the fact that many individuals are facing a situation in which their assets seem inadequate to meet the liabilities they have incurred. Often, as a result of depreciated currencies, they see the value of their possessions continually diminishing, and begin to question the stability they once accepted as a fixed standard.

It is helpful to examine Jesus' utterances on debt in the light which Christian Science throws upon them. The first mention occurs in the prayer which he gave to his disciples in response to their request that he should teach them to pray. The Master's words, "Forgive us our debts, as a result of depreciated currencies, they see the value of their possessions continually diminishing, and begin to question the stability they once accepted as a fixed standard."

Love, then, is the primary solution of this question of debt—the love of God for His children reflected by them to one another. Jesus evidently saw the need of amplifying this subject in a way that would be easily understood by his hearers, for he later expounded it by means of a parable. He told them of a servant who owed a vast sum which he was apparently unable to pay. At his earnest request, however, his lord forgave him this debt. We read that this servant then went out, and finding a fellow servant who owed him a comparatively small amount "took him by the throat, saying, Pay me that thou owest." And disregarding the debtor's plea for patience, he cast him into prison. Their lord, however, became cognizant of the situation and withdrew his pardon, requiring the creditor to pay his own debt.

It is interesting to notice that neither of these debtors protested his inability to pay or asked for the amount to be reduced. They both prayed the creditor for patience, promising to pay the full amount owing. In the first case it is recorded that his lord had compassion on the servant and forgave him his debt; while in the second the creditor took his fellow servant by the throat, or, metaphorically speaking, established such a "strangle hold" upon him as to render it impossible for him to help himself. It is clear that the mental qualities of patience and compassion extended to one who is in financial straits and help him to win his freedom, while a cruel and unmerciful attitude of thought only tightens his bonds.

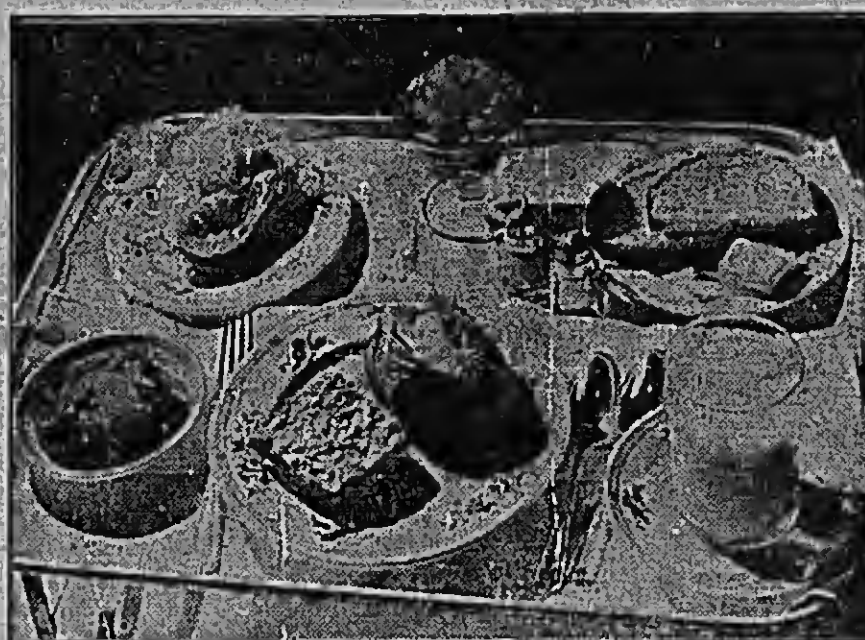

When we realize that all the love and devotion of which we are capable we owe to God, who is Love and the very source of all being, the meaning of the parable becomes apparent. Our obligations to God can be fulfilled only in the measure of our love and compassion for our fellow men. The mental "strangle hold" of hatred, misunderstanding, envy, or pride expressed in our thought of our brother will hinder him from giving us the appreciation which we believe to be due from him, and from restoring that which he owes. If we fail to reflect the love of God to all about us, the channels of our own capacity to give will become blocked with selfishness and self-seeking. Paul writes, "Owe no man any thing, but to love one another," and Christian Science teaches its students that this debt of love must be paid by each and all who would find the unending stream of spiritual supply.

Primarily, then, what is needed both by nations and by individuals today is the compassionate understanding which refuses to accept an erroneous viewpoint of either a debtor or a creditor. We are all debtors to God. And as we begin to lay down our sense of personal possession, the tight grip which fastens on matter and material possessions will become less stringent; and in the proportion that we entertain divine ideas the proper means of liquidating our material obligations will become apparent.

There is great need of clarifying our thinking, and refusing to accept a meager suggestion of annoyance or fear which would distort our viewpoint of one another. Thought must be lifted to perceive the infinitude of spiritual ideas, which are always at hand to supply the human requirement. To Jesus the demand of the tax collector or the need of the multitude presented no difficulty, because he knew so well the all-embracing nature of his Father's love. He obtained what was necessary so conscientiously that he of what Mrs. Eddy has called "the divine law that supply invariably meets demand" (Miscellaneous Writings, p. 45). But would this have been the case had he allowed his thought to become clouded with resentment toward any of those with whom he was associated?

The patience and compassion so continually manifested by Christ Jesus are needed today in full measure; and in addition to these the quality of steadfast trust and assurance that our Father will open to us the way to meet our human obligations. Mrs. Eddy has made the inspired statement that "the right way wins the right of way, even the way of Truth and Love whereby all our debts are paid, mankind blessed, and God glorified" (The First Church of Christ, Scientist, and Miscellaneous, p. 232).—The Christian Science Monitor.

"Training Diets Include Milk, Fruits and Vegetables," Says Dietitian

By FRANCES BERKELEY FLOORE
Director of Dietetics, St. Luke's Hospital

MOST of us are familiar with the fact that the growing child needs "all his stomach can hold" but it may be that he needs even more than that. This is not an unreasonable statement as it sounds. It simply means, as explained by Dr. Lydia J. Roberts of the University of Chicago, that a "child's digestive tract, particularly during the adolescent years, is too small to accommodate the large amounts required to meet his every needs unless considerable quantities of concentrated foods are provided.

Among these concentrated foods she lists butter, cheese, eggs, milk, cream and peanut butter. So if you are ever tempted to serve a "dainty" meal to your teen age children remember this need for concentrated foods—and don't.

It is especially necessary that the high school boy who is going out for athletics should have these concentrated foods. Perhaps it may seem the results of disobeying proper diet rules are not as quickly noticed in decreased physical fitness as are the effects of breaking other training rules such as those referring to the use of alcohol and tobacco, for example, but nevertheless, the favorable effect which correct diet has on health is every bit as real as the unfavorable effect of the alcohol and tobacco.

The favorable effect which one particular food may have is clearly proved by the Olympic champions whose physical superiority is partly attributed to the fact that they use nearly three times as much milk and other dairy products as the average person.

Incidentally the training rules of the athlete who is making a special effort to perfect himself physically, must well be put into practice by all big school students, both girls and boys and the parent may find it effective to appeal to the child through his admiration for the school football hero, pointing out that to be like him he must do as he does.

These are the four points that usually form the basis of the athlete's training rules:

1. About nine hours of sleep each night followed when possible by a cold bath and a brisk rub.
2. No smoking.
3. A well-balanced diet built around fresh milk, fruits, vegetables and eggs. On the day of the game breakfast should be the hearty meal and lunch a very light one consisting of one piece of toast, one poached or soft-boiled egg, one small boiled or baked potato and one glass of water. This lunch should precede the game by three hours. Although this information is not needed by the child who is applying the athlete's rules to his own life, it is an important point which the boy in training should know—and frequently doesn't.
4. Drinking milk and water rather than tea or coffee.

The second team, however, was victorious, winning 18-11.

Prairie Ramblers At Genesee*Fresh Pasteurized Milk—A Permanent Pick-Up

Juliette Ware and George Blackwood, Warner Bros. featured players, drink a toast out of milk bottles in the studio's restaurant.

ARE you nervous, tired, feel pretty low at three o'clock in the afternoon, been increasing your quota of alcoholic beverages lately? Better increase your quota of fresh milk too then, because you're going to need a nerve tonic of some sort, and while you're about it you might as well select one that's pleasant to use.

Of course fresh milk is well known as a good "pick-up" after overindulgence. But if you use it regularly in abundance, you'll discover that it's also a "permanent pick-up," helping to counteract the bad effects of past-prohibition evenings, because good old-fashioned milk is a great builder-up of the healthy body that can "take it" and still look young and beautiful on the morning after.

The function of food in preserving beauty is one that has long been over-looked and forgotten in the mass of beauty preparations for use on the outside, which are constantly being presented in the modern woman.

Beauty Treatments That Are Inexpensive and Easy.

And you don't have to go out to expensive bars or beauty parlors to get your beauty foods nor do they cost you forty cents for a few drops. Just sit at home and let the dependable milkmaid and grocer deliver these inexpensive beauty treatments at your door. Furthermore there is no law about your position while drinking your milk. You can take it standing up or sitting down, or standing on your head if you feel that way about it. (However, it's guaranteed not to send you under the table.)

In bygone days our knowledge about the effect of food on beauty was confined to such false statements, designed to discipline little Mary, as "eat your bread crusts—they'll make your hair curly" and similar extravagant promises.

Now little Mary, grown up, knows that there really are foods which when taken in abundance will make her hair healthy and glossy (if not curly); will give her a glowing complexion; healthy teeth and a more slender, well-rounded figure. Furthermore, nothing so formidable as bread crusts is on the list—just fresh milk, fruits, vegetables and eggs are the Big Four of these beauty foods.

They do their part in making the difference between the face reflected in that mirror over the bar at the lunch counter they are part of the reason why the girl with the good-looking young man has so much more youthful sparkle than the faded creature two seats down. So why not try taking two or three glasses of milk—your "permanent pick-up"—every day together with plenty of fresh fruits and vegetables and give these foods a chance to show what they can do for your appearance?

AMUSEMENTS*W. L. S. Round Up Stars at Genesee Theatre

This array of star acts is carefully combined so that it gives a smooth and entertaining performance, comprising singing, dancing and musical selections, interspersed with plenty of comedy and laughable true characters. In all a splendid entertainment which can only be classed with the high lights of presentations.

The screen attraction is a glorious musical romance, "Let's Fall in Love" starring Edmund Lowe, Ann Sothern and Miriam Jordan.

My Favorite Recipes

by Frances
Lee
Barton

MY young folks work up their keener appetites in midwinter. They demand sweet things—things that are "filling." And if there happens to be a new and pleasant surprise such as Cranberry Shortcakes, so much the better.

Cranberry Shortcakes

1 cup sifted cake flour; 1 teaspoon double-action baking powder; 1/4 teaspoon salt; 1/4 cup butter or other shortening; 1/2 cup milk.
Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt, and sift again. Cut in shortening with fingers or pastry blender until mixture is crumbly. Add milk and stir vigorously until mixture forms a soft dough. Roll out on floured board. Cut out with 3-inch round biscuit cutter. Place half of circles on ungreased baking sheet; brush with melted butter. Bake in hot oven (450° F.) 15 to 20 minutes. Separate halves of hot biscuits; spread bottom halves with soft butter and part of cranberry sauce. Place other halves on top; sprinkle down. Spread with butter and remaining sauce. Ornament with whipped cream. Serves 8.

Lady Baltimore Collation Cake

1/2 cup sifted cake flour; 1/2 teaspoon double-action baking powder; 1/4 teaspoon salt; 1/4 cup butter or other shortening; 1/2 cup sugar; 1/4 cup milk; 1/4 cup water; 1/4 teaspoon vanilla; 1/4 teaspoon almond extract; 1 egg white, stiffly beaten.
Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt, and sift together three times. Cream butter, shortening, and sugar gradually, and cream together until light and fluffy. Add flour, alternately with milk and water, and beat until smooth. Beat after each addition until smooth. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Bake in two greased 8-inch layers in moderate oven (375° F.) 25 minutes. Spread Lady Baltimore Filling between layers and Lady Baltimore Frosting on top and sides of cake. Double recipe to make three 10-inch layers.

Lady Baltimore Frosting and Filling

1/2 cup sugar; 1/4 teaspoon light corn starch; 1/2 cup boiling water; 2 egg whites, stiffly beaten; 1 teaspoon vanilla; 1/4 cup chopped; 1/4 cup raisins, chopped; 1/4 cup pecans or walnut meats, chopped.
Combine sugar, corn starch, and water. Bring mixture to a boil, stirring constantly. Stirring until a small amount of syrup forms, it will be thick. Cook in moderate heat until it reaches 212° F. on a long thread when dropped from tip of spoon (100° F.). Four eggs in one stream over egg whites, beating constantly. Add vanilla. Continue beating with a rotary egg beater 10 to 15 minutes, or until frosting is cool and of rich consistency. Spread. Use wooden spoon when too stiff to beat. For filling, add 1/4 cup raisins to the frosting and mix well. Spread between layers and on top and sides of cake. Makes enough frosting and filling to cover tops and sides of two 8-inch layers.

Strawberry Mousse for Valentine's Day

Pink is the color of strawberry; pink is the color of romance—for ask any matron you know, and nine chances out of ten she will confess she wore a pink dress the evening he proposed. So why not combine the two and have a really romantic party on St. Valentine's Day?

No need to worry about the making of the mousse, for I have the word of Oscar of the Waldorf that all you need to do to make this gorgeous mousse is to melt—

Whip 1 1/2 quarts of fresh cream until hard. Add the yolks of six eggs, mixed one by one with a wooden spoon with 1 1/2 dessertspoons full of powdered sugar. When the egg yolks have been thoroughly mixed with the whipped cream add 1 1/2 lb. of fresh crushed strawberries and 2 or 3 drops of vegetable coloring if bright color is desired. Place the mousse in a fancy mould and freeze.

When ready to serve, turn the mousse onto a platter and remove the mold. Then decorate with whip-

SUNDAY DINNER SUGGESTIONS

By ANN PAGE

STRAWBERRIES are so plentiful that they are being sold at little greater cost than in the height of their summer season. Enjoy this winter treat while it lasts.

California navel oranges are at the height of their short season and they are particularly delicious to eat out of hand or in salads or desserts. For breakfast juice, Florida oranges are fine. Grapefruit contains plentiful.

Spinach and green beans are abundant and cheap. Broccoli, though fine and inexpensive is not being used so much as it was. Cauliflower and new cabbage are cheap. Peas continue plentiful and good. Beets and carrots are particularly economical.

With Lent in the near future, favorite meat dishes should be enjoyed now though well cooked and seasoned fish is equally good.

The Quaker Maid suggests the following menus for your Sunday dinner.

Low Cost Dinner

Pan-browned Chopped Beef
Mashed Potatoes
Green Beans
Bread and Butter
Vanilla Tunket with Preserves

Medium Cost Dinner

Very Special Dinner

Tomato Juice Cocktail
Baked Stuffed Ham or Roast Chicken
Mashed Potatoes
Buttered Broccoli
Grapefruit and Orange Salad

pod cream—white whipped cream and some with just a little vegetable coloring if you like a touch of green. Decorate with fresh strawberries and be prepared for some "Oh's" and "Um's."

This recipe will serve sixteen people, and we suggest that you use tablecloth of dull pink or light blue, with white china dishes.

2 teaspoons baking powder
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 cup sugar
1 egg unbeaten

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt, and sift together three times. Cream butter thoroughly, add sugar gradually, and cream butter well. Add egg and beat very thoroughly. Add flour, alternately with milk, a small amount at a time. Beat after each addition until smooth. Add vanilla. Bake in moderate oven 25 minutes.

Chocolate Wonder Frosting

3 ounces (one package) cream cheese
2 squares Baker's unsweetened chocolate, melted
2 or 3 tablespoons milk
2 cups sifted confectioners' sugar.
Soften cream cheese with milk. Add sugar, one cup at a time, blending after each addition. Add chocolate and salt and beat until smooth. Makes enough frosting to cover two 8-inch layers. If desired recipe may be doubled to cover tops and sides of cake generously.

Antioch in Rhyme

The Story of our Village told Alphabetically and in Rhyme
A is for Antioch as everyone knows,
The fairest village on which the wind blows.

Where business is booming all times of the year,
In winter and summer, cloudy weather or clear.

A is also for Abel our minister good,
Who would save all men, that is if he could.

From the broad pathway of vice and sin,
And from the dark pit which they're sure to fall in.

Yes! A stands for Ames of whom there are many.
And who else for A? There are not any.

(Ed. note—More rhymes of Antioch forty years ago will follow next week.)

YOUR "LIGHT BILL"

Once a month a meter reader calls at your home and reads your electric meter. A few days later a bill comes covering the electricity used in the preceding 30 days.

Most people call it their "light bill." As a matter of fact, it's much more than that. Electricity does much more than illuminate the average home; it revivifies, keeps a radio, warms and freezes clothes, it makes baker waffles, warms up dirty corners. Often it provides healthful refrigeration, mixes food, ventilates the kitchen, tells accurate time.

Electric service makes homes more comfortable for the whole family. It makes home choice easier for the housewife. And its cost is but a small item in the home budget.

HORNER - KELLY

fort to get downstate members to attend.

A fourth special session is practically certain. Unemployment relief will be the chief subject. Every effort is now being made to cover up certain phases of administration of the relief funds in the state. It is admitted that the last $30,000,000 of state funds voted for relief probably will be exhausted in July, although supposed to take care of the work until 1933. The federal government has donated $10,000,000.

Reports from Chicago are to the effect that, although more than 100,000 families have been taken off the relief rolls through the CWA the monthly relief bills have increased to more than $6,000,000. The number of payrollers has increased to nearly 6,000.

These things were anticipated when Edwin L. Ryerson, C. B. Goodspeed and other former members of the state relief commission were supplanted with political appointees, including a brother-in-law of Mayor Kelly of Chicago. The commission has also been severely criticized for its method of administering the CWA that the federal government has found it necessary to get a new set-up to step political chieftains and grafting.

Legislative investigation of the relief commission is to be started under a resolution introduced at the first special session by Rep. Maurice O. Kalahar, Republican of Bloomington, been named, but Kalahar was left off the investigating committee has and the committee "loaded", only legislators who have been going along with the Horner administration having been selected. They are Sens. Williams, Maypole, O'Grady, Ewing and Roberts and Reps. Devine, F. W. Lewis, John Ryan and Chynoweth and Shanahan.

"Bad" Child Often Just Hungry, Says Colgate U. Psychologist

Suggests High-Energy Food Snack To Offset Drain On Energy Reserves

IRRITABILITY, or plain, down-right badness on the part of nervous, high-strung children may frequently be due largely to hunger, according to Dr. Donald A. Laird, director of the Colgate University psychological laboratory. The remedy may be nothing more complicated than a snack of some high-energy food, fashioned in a delicate, palatable, and easily digestible form, such as bread, butter and brown sugar, is suggested by Dr. Laird.

"The active child," Dr. Laird says, "consumes an enormous amount of energy. A great deal is used up in the act of growing, alone. Almost ceaseless activity during waking hours imposes another heavy drain. Those foods which the system reduces to glycogen or blood sugar are the primary sources of energy, for the muscles use glycogen as the fuel to produce heat and motion."

"When the glycogen supplied by food fails, the muscles even consume themselves to convert their proteins into glycogen, but only at the expense of irritability and the production of poisons that cause fatigue. Sugar and sweet foods, together with the other carbohydrates, possess the advantage of being quickly convertible into glycogen."

That a hungry child is a bad child is an old axiom, but this is the first time that a scientific explanation for the phenomenon has been suggested.

Predicts Skilled Labor Shortage In Steel Mills

NEW YORK, N. Y.—A shortage of skilled labor in the steel industry, if the expected rise in mill operations this spring reaches substantial levels, is predicted by W. S. Tower, Executive Secretary of the American Iron & Steel Institute, New York.

"Under the provisions of the Code," Tower said, "the iron and steel industry has added more than 60,000 employees before the close of 1933 despite the sharp decline in operations. Monthly pay rolls during the closing months of 1933 were at the rate of approximately $7,000,000 a year greater than last June."

"If operations in the industry increase to as much as 70 per cent of capacity at least 125,000 additional employees will be needed, making another heavy increase in wages distributed by the steel mills."

"Many of these added employees will be skilled operators and present indications are that the present supply of such workers would be exhausted long before requirements could be filled."

"Not only have more men been added to pay rolls, but hourly wage earnings have gone up 24 per cent since the Code went into effect. Steel prices have advanced very little and are still close to the low level of 20 years."

"Part of the added labor costs to the steel industry has come from practically complete elimination of the 10 hour day and adoption of U. S.

eight hour day, although this was not mandatory under the Code until the operations reached 60 per cent of capacity. The operating rate is now about 34 per cent with a rising trend."

"As indicated by compliance with the employment provisions of the Steel Code in spite of the huge financial burden imposed, as well as the other terms of the Code, the steel industry is co-operating wholeheartedly with the NRA in an effort to speed industrial recovery."
